Marianna Finch is a 20-year-old college student who is currently living in a dorm, pursuing a biology major. When she's not doing homework or hanging out with her friends, she is watching movies and TV shows on her computer. She's a serial binge watcher and maintains a list of everything she has watched and a separate list of everything she plans to watch. Both lists have passed 200 entries at this point and they are growing steadily.

She is heavily involved in the discussion of media that she has watched online and has a tendency to get in heated debates over certain aspects of shows. That said, she is extremely cautious of spoilers and ends up only engaging in current topics because she knows that she will get spoiled if she looks at discussion of older media online. She is very familiar with the YouTube and IMDB UIs.
